
Petar Vico

petarvico3@outlook.com

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Software Developer position at your company. As a candidate for a Bachelor's of Computer Science from the prestigious University of Waterloo and a track record of delivering exceptional results in challenging development environments, I believe I possess the skills and passion to make a meaningful contribution to your esteemed organization.

During the past few months I have been working closely with a friend who had an idea to create a social networking app for Serbians around the world. I created a full backend using Mongo, Express, and Node with features including authentication, subscriptions, and event ticket sales. I have also engaged in creating a very dynamic frontend with Angular. I was also fully in charge of deployment, testing, and maintenance for this full stack web app.

During my co-op experiences at Siemens and IMAX, I played a pivotal role on the testing team. At Siemens, I created an android emulator which increased our automated acceptance test speed by up to 2500%. This efficient emulator was distributed to teams at Siemens internationally, making a company-wide efficiency impact. During my co-op term at IMAX, I applied my eagerness to learn and in the four months there I was able to contribute a great deal of automation which led to being called back to work as a contractor part-time in the school year. Ever since, I have been automating every area of testing and development that I see fit. Most notably, I linked automated test results to TestRail, and created a Slack bot to report the results of daily test runs.

Beyond my technical skills, I am highly organized and possess exceptional time management capabilities, which have allowed me to excel in fast-paced work environments. My passion for learning and problem-solving has been instrumental in succeeding in the field.

I am excited about the prospect of joining your company and contributing my skills to drive innovation and success in your development projects. I am confident that my "Get It Done" attitude that I apply in the workplace would align perfectly with the values and goals of your organization.

Sincerely,

Petar Vico